I. RATIONALE

Consistent with the goals and strategies of the Universal Health Care (UHC) Act, the Department of Health (DOH) ensures that health care services are available, accessible and affordable to marginalized and vulnerable population of the country. A key aspect in health service delivery is ensuring the adequate number of Human Resource for Health.

The inadequate number and inequitable distribution of healthcare professionals in the country had led to inefficient delivery of quality basic health services to the majority of the populace especially in underserved areas. This prompted the DOH to pursue schemes that could address such gap in support of the Local Government Code and through an integrated approach. Among these is the DOH Pre-Service Scholarship Program (PSSP) that is linked to the DOH National Health Workforce Support System (NHWSS) and is directed towards augmenting health workforce needs of local public health system.

The DOH PSSP has been implemented to increase availability of physicians, midwives and other priority health care professionals who shall provide quality basic health care services to underserved, hard to reach, economically underdeveloped, distressed, and geographically isolated and disadvantaged areas (GIDA) of the country.
